STAR TREK and related marks and logos. CBS Studios Inc. reserves the December 22, 2020 version of M25.1.1 - Introducing Sarcophagus, the newest warship that excels in shooting and holding a node capture in Captured territory.- Introducing 3 newly discovered officers: Rare Emperor Georgiou, Rare Captain Tilly and Epic Gabriel Lorca.- Up to 20 new missions from the Glass Universe!- At first there were some challenges, like in other games, and then my father died, the people in my partner became a source of energy among others in real life. I went out for about 10 months and had to start from scratch a few weeks ago, my relationship with these men and women made a huge difference. We have people who are going through cancer treatment and partners are supporting her, madness helps her deal with lonely and painful moments (I hope I can get some of the boats I had before bc I put some coins). With regard to stfc games, there is one if the best customer support in the industry, obviously the game is there to make money, but the people who work at Scopely, you get the feeling that they care for you, they listen to you and try to fix the problem quickly and listen to the input of the players. Extracurricularly there are some bugs, but it is a very cool game to play, and more importantly, the money you invest in this game, it will trabajare on the tangible list in the game, unlike other games you spend money on and you don't know where it's gone! It's about relationships! I've been playing this for over a month now and it was so much fun exploring the mission universe and building my station, fun and alliances were great, and so there was a little bit of grief from the players and other partners who enjoyed it, but sadly everything that ended with the launch of a new confederate war event. It makes the game very unplayable. Within a matter of hours until now, I've watched all the sectors that have been filled with people now empty apart from these senior players who swoop in to kill any ship in the area, they have level 4-5 on other ships in the area, and we can't even mine with a ship that's been hit, not even 5 minutes out. There's no way unless you pay to have any level of protection. Recently I was chased from three different sectors by a higher level ship on a level 13, they were 15-16, even after I jumped to the lower ground, I still found 15 in 10-11 level areas attacking any ship they encountered. There's hardly a point to play now after level 10, I love Star Trek and so I'm excited to jump in and play. I'll probably have about 30 hours to play the game and while I enjoy the concept, but it certainly lacks marks. There are corresponding problems with bugs and bugs. Menus or buttons are cracked and you won't be able to leave or interact with anything. Notifications will be jammed and you won't be able to get rid of the badge even if you've accepted it. After about 10 levels, you can attack and be attacked by other players, which seems exciting, except there are no natural obstacles that separate the player. So it doesn't matter how you progress to a certain level, the person who is 3x your power can attack your ship and destroy it easily. You can also do the same with others. The challenge is that if you are trying to complete missions or mine resources, it is inevitable that within minutes you will be attacked and destroyed. As your ship becomes more and more powerful, it will take longer and longer for them to repair, so be prepared to wait 30 minutes to an hour for your ship to rebuild every time you log in. I can go about things that aren't quite there, but this game has wasted my time. After that, you'll get bored like so many other players and delete apps.
